Apvece.-As the hot season is approaching, every person should prepare their system for the change, and there is no remedy so applicable as "McLeans strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier." It will purify the blood thoroughly, and at the same time strengthen and invigorate the whole organization. The immense quantity of it that is sold daily, is proof enough of its great virtues in thoroughly removing all impure matter from the blood. We say to all, try it! It is de licious to take. From the Commercial Bulletin, Boston, Oct. 15, 1859 Tork Spicking Point .- This point seems, at last to have been reached, in a new invention known as Soulding's Prepared Glue, which by simple application without heating or preparation of any kind, re-unites the fragments of almost anything into a perfect whole. This glue is really a valuable invention, and from its utility, must come into as extensive and general use as the friction match. oct16-2w

Messre. Clark, Gregory & Co. Nashville .- There are thousands of Patent Nostrums onfied and trumpeted over the country which are worthless, and need only to be known to be hated. A counterfeit, however, is no proof that there is not a genuine. I have tested the efficacy of your Ambrosial Oil, in so many cases, both in and out of my family, that its value is no longer a subject of doubt with me. Physicians are using it in their practice, and families now using it say they are so well pleased they connot afford to be without it. If you or oth, besire specialities as to its value,I will be happy to give them at any time. Respectfully, REV. JOHN P. CAMPBELL.

NEMESIS.

By the Author of Hidden Path, Alone and Moss Side. South. The time, the beginning of the present century. The customs and events of those days are traced with fidelity and spirit, yet so skillfully interwoven with the narrative, that the reader is not wearied by statistics or dry historical details. The homes of fifty years ago seemed as familiar to him as those he visited but yesterday, and their inmates differ little from the men and women with whom he associates daily. The pictures of humble life are graphic and refreshing. In greater variety of incident, more artistic deleneation of character, more earnestness of thought and vigor of discription, and certainly no other contains a plot so striking in conception and so ally managed. The reader cannot but remark how irresistably yet naturally he is borne along by the tide of events. There is no need after he is once in the current to ex plain the ominous tittle that frowns at the top of the page. Before the Nemesis is unvailed the reader feels er subtle influence, understanding by intuition that and quietness of movement. We therefore there are hidden springs and secret wires under the make award to the Grover Baker.

The landlord put me in a front room up stairs, and after supper I lit a cigar and sat down before the fire to wait for the serenade to break out. About ten o'clock the music suddenly struck up from two fiddles, a flute, a clarenet, a tambourine and a triangle. I had directed the landlord to send me up six bottles of champaigne, three of brandy and two of Old Robertson, with decanters for the last two and glasses for all. The cook. chambermaid and boot-black (all in one) brought up the liquors and a large Japanned tea-board with two cut-glass decanters, a dozen wine-glasses, and a pitcher of water. "Now, girl," said I, "put those bottles on that waiter along with the other things, and take them down stairs, and when I get done speaking and invite the band to drink, take the things into the front porch and let the boys help themselves." The girl took the establishment and left the room, and I proceeded to take off my collar and cravat to be ready to make a speech to the band, when I was suddenly startled by the most infernal crash. mixed with a colored scream, that was ever
